

Dear all,

I wanted to present myself to you in my new role as an Environment and sustainable development delegate (Miljö- och hållbarhetsombud på svenska). As you already know, and if not, take a chance now to learn! - Karolinska Institutet has set up a major goal for contributing to a better environment and more sustainable development. Thus, significant environmental aspects have been identified in a number of priority areas for research and education - energy, travel, procurement, purchasing, lab safety, chemicals and waste. Accordingly, KI has developed a program and an action plan to decrease the negative impact of its activities on the environment. We all at KI should be aware of this program and I will be happy to help you out to navigate it! I am sure that many of you are wondering how we could reduce the impact of our work on the environment. I will learn myself and do my best to communicate to you the guidelines to environmental and sustainability work and such actions relating directly to your work. Please, navigate the KI page and get an overview of the activities and action plan, watch a short film to make yourself familiar with the environmental goals and the activities at KI
