Department of Clinical Neuroscience
Division of Insurance Medicine

Stress among board certified specialists with a PhD, working at a university hospital
There is only limited knowledge on the work situation among physicians working clinically as well as with research and teaching. To obtain such knowledge in general and more specifically regarding how this group manages stress, data was obtained through a questionnaire and through focus group interviews.

Project leader: Kristina Alexanderson, professor.
kristina.alexanderson@ki.se

Publications, scientific journals

Scientific reports